The race was arranged to be run at Torrington, the following Saturday, Burke was promised $25 by Sullivan's friend, who was supposed to be his backer, and knew nothing of the deal.

On the day of the race, Burke came to Torrington, accompanied by only four or five friends, as the New Britain sports did not feel very confident of his ability to win. Seeling that he had no following, Sullivan instructed me to lose, and at once offered to bet $50 to $500 that I would win. This offer was not accepted, but it left the impression with the New Britain people that they could have won a barrel of money, and this report they carried home with them.

Roosevelt's Letter, English Coal Situation and Mexico's Troubles. New York, Feb. 26.—Two factors stood out most prominently in connection with the reactionary tone of rict was hardly surprised at the ex-resident's communication to the gov-rnors, but seemed disposed to place in unfavorable construction upon that locument, despite the fact that only a short time ago it was supposed to re-gard his possible candidacy with no little favor. The progress of the Eng-lish coal situation towards its more critical stage was viewed with consid-erable alarm. This was evidenced not nly in the heaviness of Americans in serion, but in the trend of the Lonion and continental markets as well. Other events which served to damp-the arder and narrow speculative ablic comprised the Mexican situaional labor outbreaks in New Eng-and, During the early part of the session the market's movements were also retarded by the possibility of an adverse decision by the United States sureme court in the long delayed. Reading coal case, Under these circumstances it was not to be wondered that the market moved with practically no impulse, even though important financial interests were quoted as declaring that ests were quoted as dectaring that conditions are steadily improving. This statement was borne out in a measure by the Calumet and Hecka directors, who declared a quarterly dividend of $8, as against the preceding payment of $5 per share. It is generally believed, however, that the coperations of the conditions of th per trade at this particular period stands in a more favorable position than any other important industry, but this condition is regarded as an isolated one. The state of the steel and iron trade shows no immediate betterment, and shares of the independent companies, including Republic Iron and Steel and Bethlehem Steel, were again

Of the more active stocks, Reading was weakest, declining another full point to the lowest level since the latpoint to the lowest level since the lat-ter part of January. Steel and Union Pacific moved within the range of a point, and Southern Pacific was but slightly influenced by a supreme court decision affecting its land holdings. Canadian Pacific displayed greater heaviness than any other high class issue, its early decline of 11-2 points
